

Cultural Competence is characterized by an ability to see, appreciate, and utilize color and culture to advance the needs of racially marginalized individuals (Cross et al., 1989). It is not synonymous with being colorblind.

Steps to increase cultural competency:

1. Recognize the importance of acknowledging differences
2. Use these differences in a way that is advantageous for individuals who are racially marginalized